Chicago Police Have Decided That There Is To Be No More Fooling.

MANY TEAMS SENT OUT TODAY

Police Guard Is Still Very Large--Many Strikers Have Gone Back Home, Tiring Of The Chicago Life.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.] Chicago, May 8.—Following a lull in the strike violence Sunday, the probabilities for trouble became apparent this morning when it was declared the big houses would attempt to resume regular operations. They have asked the police for protection for twelve hundred wagons which they expect to send out today. The Employer's Teaming company will also attempt to operate seven hundred wagons under the usual strong guard.

No Dallying
Assistant Chief Schuetzler is in personal charge of the police today. He intimates there will be no further dallying with the disorderly element or with the crowds which follow the wagons. The mayor's commission to investigate the strike began work this morning under the leadership of Prof. Graham Taylor. It is not expected the commission will be ready to report before the end of the week.

Go Back Home
It is reported at police headquarters that several hundred strikers returned to St. Louis on Sunday, declaring they had enough of strenuous life in Chicago. Emil Kimber, a union teamster, was shot and seriously wounded by three men in a quarrel over the strike, at the corner of Clybourn and Orchard streets early this morning.

Sunday Is Quiet.
There were no outbreaks of violence Sunday and very little teaming was done. The railway express companies had their wagons on the streets all day and the Daniels Coal company had a number of wagons out delivering coal, but the establishments of the big merchants involved in the strike were closed.

A nonunion negro was shot in the wrist by a man hiding in an alley near the barns of the Employers' Teaming company. The assailant escaped.

The Peabody Coal company had a crew of negroes unloading a barge at the power-house of the Union Traction company at Hobbs and Crosby streets. They were not using teams, however.

While the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor was in progress at Monroe and Peoria streets, wagons of the United States express company passed the hall several times. Men on the sidewalk declared it was the same wagon which was passing and re-passing, and it was empty. The barns of the company are at 255 Desplains street.

Claim Employers' Court Attack.
The delegates declared that the company had sent its wagons past the hall on purpose to invite an attack by the crowds of men who had gathered around the union hall, and it furnished the text for a two hours' discussion.

A protest against the action is to be sent to Mayor Dunne and Gov. Deneen, and the incident will be relayed by the press.

FARMERS REAP WEALTH WHILE COAL MEN FIGHT

Saline County, Illinois, The Scene of Fight For Very Valuable Coal Lands.

Harrisburg, Ill., May 8.—The immense coal fields in Saline county are at present assuming such activity as has never been witnessed in this section before. Among those most interested in securing coal land in Saline county are the Peabody Coal company and the firm of O'Garra, King & Co. of Chicago and S. C. Cover, a Pennsylvania capitalist.

The Peabody Coal company is extending its holdings of coal land in the territory northwest of Harrisburg and within the past few days has paid out $30,000 to the farmers of Saline county. Its usual plan has been to buy only the coal, but in most cases lately the surface as well as the coal has been purchased at as high as $75 an acre for both surface and coal. The company has just closed a deal for 5,000 acres in the Rann neighborhood, which was hotly contested for by another syndicate.

Secures Options on Acres.
O'Garra, King & Co. of Chicago are not only making a lively bid for some of the virgin territory in this country, but have secured options on a majority of the plots already in operation, of which there are at present about fourteen in Saline county. The fight local representatives of this firm has secured options on about 30,000 acres of coal, extending as far as Equality, in Williamson county.

S. C. Cover and his associates are taking deeds in the north and north west part of the county as fast as the papers can be prepared. This syndicate has paid out over $85,000 for coal land in Saline county the past month.

New Roads Are Projected.
Along with the activity in the coal lands interest is again revived in railroads. At least a half dozen railroads are talked of, among which are the extension of branches of the Illinois Central, Burlington, Wabash, Chicago & Eastern Illinois and an electric road or two. For the past month a number of surveying parties have been going over the county in different directions.

Ten drilling outfits are now at work north and west of the city prospecting for coal, not to find the coal, however, as that proposition has long since been settled, but to locate a suitable place for shafts to get the proper dip in order to make mining easier.

May Boycott Bankers.
Banks which have contributed to the strike fund of the Employers' association were scored at the meeting of labor delegates, and the officers of the unions declare that there will be some transferring of funds before many days. The office of Sheriff Barrett is also to be investigated to learn the truth of reports that non-citizens have been sworn in as deputy sheriffs in violation of the constitution and laws of the state.

The resolution asking for a grand jury investigation of the employers were presented by John C. Harding of Typographical union No. 10, and were unanimously adopted and the strike committee instructed to have the evidence prepared and laid before State's Attorney Healy.

Police Are Angry.
Criticism by the Employers' association of the police department in its method of dealing with the teamsters' strike and charges that there has been a conspiracy of policemen to extend assistance to rioters, angered the members of the department. The police said they were ready to face any charges that might be brought. They declared they would be able to show that Strike-breaker Frank Curry was not held by policemen while he was beaten, but that he unwarrantedly assaulted a man and should have been arrested.

Assistant Chief Schuetzler said: "I want to deny absolutely that there is any conspiracy to aid the strikers, and I think I would know it if any such thing existed. I do not think there was ever a more earnest attempt made by the police to prevent violence than in this strike. The department has worked conscientiously from the start."

Law Breakers Fare Alike.
"There have been isolated cases where policemen through sympathy with the strikers have failed to do their duty. Some of these have been discovered and the men have been punished. I cannot understand the charge, or what basis there is for it. In any large body of men there always is a possibility that a few will not do their duty. But it has not been in this case, because they were not told to do it, for they were instructed very clearly to prevent violence, stop rioting and protect property."

Says Charges Are False.
"If a strike-breaker has been arrested or disarmed it is only because he ought to have been arrested and disarmed. One person starting trouble is not different from another person. When police push into a crowd that is fighting indiscriminately there is hardly any opportunity for them to distinguish one side from another, and some of the persons attacked may have been clubbed or arrested unjustly, but that is something that cannot be prevented, for the first duty is to quell the disturbance."

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.] Chicago, Ill., May 8.—Judge Grosscup this morning delivered an opinion favoring the city's contention that the franchises of the city passenger railway of the so-called Adams street line, extending from Clark street west to the city limits, expired April 21. # RAIL ELECTRIC TRAIN IN AN OPEN SWITCH

Eight Persons Seriously Injured When Cars Leave the Track While Running at High Speed.

Elgin, Ill., May 8.—Speeding along at a forty-mile-an-hour clip a Chicago-bound car on the third rail line of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Railway company ran into an open switch four miles south of Elgin at 7:10 o'clock Sunday evening, seriously injuring William Murphy, the crack fielder of the Elgin baseball team, and seven other passengers, including one woman. Dr. Agnes Lanes of 2030 Clarendon avenue, Chicago, was a two-car train, the first coach carrying the full team of the Joliet baseball club and four members of the Elgin team. The injured:

William Murphy, Chicago, left fielder of the Elgin baseball team; spinal and internal injuries; recovery doubtful; taken to Sherman hospital, Elgin.

Tokio Asserts That Every Opportunity Is Given For Coaling And Securing Provisions To The Fleets.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.] London, May 8.—Danger of international complications, involving France and England, as a result of Japan's unequivocal attitude upon the question of neutrality, has at last engaged the serious attention of the British foreign office.

No less reliable an authority than the Times is sponsor for the statement that the British government has already taken official action in the matter.

In the course of a strongly worded editorial warning to France of the extreme danger and gravity of the situation in the far east and appealing to that government not to treat the Japanese protests lightly, the Times says it has reason to believe that Foreign Secretary Lansdowne has spoken very strongly to the French government on the breaches of neutrality permitted to the Russian Pacific squadron.

Japan in Angry Mood.
Special dispatches from Tokio to the London papers represent that the Japanese feeling is becoming highly inflamed at France's alleged failure to prevent ostentatious disregard for the principles of neutrality by the Russian Pacific squadron.

The Tokio Asahi bluntly describes the French assurances that they would preserve neutrality as false, hoods, and declares that Japan would be justified in bombarding French territory, and calls upon the government to take vigorous action.

Among Japanese officials in London it is asserted France put off Japan by fair promises in order to give Rojostevsky time to effect a junction of his forces, and that the Russians are now given every privilege provided they keep just outside the three mile limit.

BANK CASHIER ARRESTED BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Iowa Bank Officials Are Now In Trouble Through Disregard For The Laws.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Des Moines, Iowa, May 8.—The indictment of Alexander L. Rockhold, cashier of the Bank of Lineville, for fraudulent banking and embezzlement by receiving deposits when he knew the institution was insolvent, carries with it a romantic story. The shortage in the bank because of the cashier's alleged misconduct amounts to over $25,000.

Rockhold had been cashier for twenty years and never was a word raised against him until he went to Kansas City to attend the national democratic convention. There, it is said in Lineville, he met a Chicago woman and became infatuated with her. Her name is not known, but from that time on he began to make frequent trips to Chicago, Kansas City and Davenport. The woman visited Lineville and was entertained by Rockhold.

Gives Aid to Woman.
While there was considerable gossip it was never intimated Rockhold would use a penny not his own. Then the woman became involved in police trouble in Chicago and it is said Rockhold paid his last penny to assist her.

Did Not Refuse Deposits.
An examination of the books developed that the original bank had been for a long time insolvent, although deposits had been received up to the time of the formation of the new bank. It also developed that paper and notes to the bank were practically worthless, the shortage or shrinkage from this source and from overdrafts amounting to about $70,000.

As the charter had expired and had never been renewed, the corporation was in reality a copartnership, thus throwing the stockholders liable for the full amount of debts of the bank. They paid depositors in full and brought the case to the attention of the grand jury, which has just indicted Rockhold on six counts.

ANCIENT LAKES TO PLAY A PART

PLANS OF GOVERNMENT IRRIGATION BUREAU.

TO INCREASE LAND VALUES

Present Plans Mean Much to the Small Farmer; to the West as a Whole.

Has Nevada always been an arid and desert region? Its geological records, as indelibly carved in sandstone and granite, showing the shore lines of ancient lakes, proclaim that at one time a vast body of water, as great in area as Lake Erie, covered a portion of the state. Today, however, the aridity of the country is unquestioned and the $50,000 acres to part of which Uncle Sam is about to apply water, will practically double its well irrigated area and its agricultural production.

Nevada's ancient inland sea is known as Lake Lahontan; it was one of the several great prehistoric lakes distributed over the Great Basin of the arid region, among them Lake Bonneville of which the Great Salt Lake was the deepest portion. Its area was nine times greater than the Great Salt, or almost as large as Lake Michigan and much deeper.

The contracted remains of Lake Lahontan in Nevada are found in Pyramid lake and a number of other small enclosed lakes which were the deepest portions of the ancient lake. Since these large prehistoric lakes were landlocked and did not overflow, it follows that the rainfall which fed them was much heavier than it is today.

Drowning Out the Mormons.

Should conditions revert, many of the important points situated in the Great Basin would be hopelessly flooded, such for instance as the Mormon Temple which would stand in 850 feet of water, while 700 miles of railroad would be submerged.

These prehistoric lakes are said to be of very recent origin—that is, to be of recent geological count—perhaps 30,000 or 40,000 years old. Fossils have been found showing the presence of primitive man along their ancient shores and embankments, which in many instances, are as perfect in contour and as distinct as if the waters had receded only a few years since. These lakes included such arid and fear-inspiring localities of today as the Black Rock Desert, Skull Valley, Death Valley, and a score of other places where the bleached bones of man and animal attest to an awful lack of water.

Great Government Irrigation

This first irrigation work of the national government, which is to be celebrated by the turning of the water into the gigantic ditches this month, is the largest project which has been definitely outlined and approved under the irrigation act—known as the Truckee-Carson project. When completed it will involve the expenditure of approximately nine million dollars and will reclaim 350,000 acres of desert land. That portion of the system now completed consists of a canal 31 miles long to take water from the Truckee River and convey it to the Carson River, where a large storage reservoir is projected. Just below this reservoir site, the waters of the two streams will be led out upon the plains by two canals, with a combined capacity of 1,000 cubic feet per second. Some 50,000 acres are to be irrigated this spring, for which 200 miles of small distributing ditches have been dug.

The Secretary of the Interior has set aside $2,740,000 of the "Reclamation Fund" for the initial work, and by the time this has been expended about 100,000 acres will be under canals, and the settlers will be returning in annual payments the original investment. The money thus received will be used as a revolving fund for the completion of this project. The land has been divided into farm units of 80 acres, and the cost of reclamation will be $26 per acre. Work is being commenced this spring on regulating gates at the outlet of Lake Tahoe, located in California, but whose waters will be used to reclaim the fertile Nevada soil. Future plans involve the draining of Carson Sink, 25,000 acres in extent, which overflows in years of heavy rainfall, and the reclamation of lands in the upper Truckee and Carson valleys. As these large areas are gradually brought under irrigation a greater water supply will be required and nine additional reservoirs will be constructed, with a combined storage capacity of over a million and a quarter acres feet (an acre foot equals one acre, one foot deep).

Fruits, Vegetables and Grains
The soil under this project is very fertile, and deciduous fruits such as apples, pears, peaches, grapes, all the berries and vegetables produce luxuriantly. Wheat, oats, potatoes and alfalfa are the staple crops. The lands are tributary to the Southern Pacific, the Nevada, California and Oregon, and the Virginia and Truckee railroads and the recent enlargement of the latter.

HE GOT HIS CIGAR.

Sherman Blake Went Ten Miles for it, but is Happy Now.

Sherman Blake's friends were surprised to see him on the street yesterday, as when he left for his camp a week ago, he said that Janesville would know him no more for a month.

His unexpected appearance is explained by the fact that he ran out of Wadsworth Bros. Cigars, and had to come to Smith's Drug Co. to get another box.

As he expressed it, "cumping without an Chico to smoke is like lemonade without lemon, and even though I had to come ten miles to get my cigar, I am happy now." While he said this, he looked the personification of contentment, letting a long whiff of fragrant Havana smoke float upwards.

Smith's Drug Co. have just received another shipment of Wadsworth Bros. Cigars, and want all who like a good cigar, better than most ten cent cigars, to try a Chico, and see how well pleased they will be for half the money, as it retails for a straight five cents.

mous activity in gold and silver mining in Nevada insures a nearby and profitable market. At the same time the supply of food products will greatly reduce the cost of living and further stimulate mining development.

The fact that a very large portion of the lands included in this project belong to the government and have been withdrawn from speculative entry under the desert and other land laws, is a matter for congratulation. Nevada's past history has been one of land monopoly, in fact it has been said that the state was long since stolen by land grabbers. In area Nevada is three times the size of Indiana, but her population is scarcely sufficient for a single small county. The population of last year was but little over 12,000. The bulk of the inhabitable lands are in the hands of a few great land owners, while the opportunity for settlement and increased population has never been extensive. Nevada's land history is one which can be studied with profit by those who are searching for light on the question of proper administration of the public domain. With exception of the influx of immigration due to mining excitement, the population is at a standstill and must continue to remain so until farm lands are thrown open to settlement in small tracts through government irrigation.

Stealing Away the State.
When the state was admitted to the Union, in place of receiving the usual donation of alternate school sections—16 and 32 in each township—she secured a flat grant from the government of two million acres of public land to be located wherever her law-makers saw fit. The state legislature passed as much as desired into private ownership of stockmen, at as low a figure as 25 cents an acre. These lands have been taken up and down the sides of every river and stream and around every spring and water hole, in the state, so that while Nevada has today some sixty million acres of public land, there is not a quarter section of it upon which a homesteader could make a living. The land granted to the state for school purpose—disposed of by the state for a mess of pottage—controls the lands of the state.

The government's irrigation, when worked out, will immediately double Nevada's population; it will provide a new life-blood of settlement and citizenship for a region of unsurpassed agriculture.

This great reclamation scheme for the re-building of Nevada is being carried into operation by Engineer L. H. Taylor, under the supervision of Frederick H. Newell, Chief Engineer of the Reclamation Service. It will afford the first practical example of the operations of the new national irrigation law.

BEET SUGAR PULP VALUABLE RATION

Colorado Agricultural College Experiment—Feeding It to Steers.

The feeding experiment just completed by the Colorado Agricultural College with range steers at the Fort Collins Sugar Company's factory has been completed, and it has proved conclusively that beet sugar pulp is an extremely valuable addition to the feeding ration. The results showed that pulp and hay fed steers netted a profit of $5.60 greater than the corn and alfalfa fed, and that pulp, when added to corn and hay, will increase the profits $8.40 per steer. It was planned, according to the Fort Collins "Express" to keep the steers on feed for 150 days, but owing to the supply of pulp being exhausted, they were sold after 100 days' feeding, and while in a slightly unfinished condition, yet they were good enough to top the market for the year. The purpose of the experiment being to determine the exact value of pulp, it was decided to separate the steers into four lots, the ration being given for comparison as follows:

Lot No. 1—Alfalfa, pulp and ground corn.
Lot No. 2—Alfalfa, hay and ground corn.
Lot No. 3—Alfalfa and pulp.
Lot No. 4—Alfalfa and hay.
During the test the average steer in the first lot ate 1,660 pounds of alfalfa, 3,343 pounds of pulp and 662 pounds of ground corn. Lot No. 2 ate on the average 2,137 pounds of alfalfa, which was almost double of that eaten by lot No. 1, and about the same quantity of corn. The third lot averaged 2,189 pounds of alfalfa and 7,729 pounds of pulp. Lot No. 4 averaged 4,149 pounds of alfalfa, a trifle over two tons per steer. The pulp was estimated at 25 cents per ton, hay 85 per ton, and the corn 85 cents per hundred. The steers on an average weighed at the beginning of the experiment as follows: Lot No. 1, 1,951 pounds; lot 2, 2,368 pounds; lot 3, 2,941 pounds; lot 4, 2,968 pounds. The gains made in pounds during the 100 days' feeding were 263, 176, 184 and 147 for lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 respectively. The total cost of the average steer, including purchase price at 3 cents—freight, yardage, commission, labor and feed—amounted for lot 1, $45.72; lot 2, $49.24; lot 3, $41.40; and lot 4, $56.68. The steers sold at prices ranging from $5.15 for lot 1 down to $4.75 per hundredweight for lot 4. The average steer in lot 1 sold for $59.60; lot 2, $55.00; lot 3, $52.54; lot 4, $50.25. The variation in price of feed given the different lots made the profits as follows: Lot 1, average steer, $13.50; lot 2, $5.52; lot 3, $11.05; lot 4, $2.27.

These results show that pulp, when fed in addition to grain and alfalfa, reduces the hay consumed by half, and with hay selling at $6 per ton, the usefulness of pulp costing 25 or 50 cents per ton is apparent. American Sugar Industry and Beet Sugar Gazette.

CHRISTIANITY IS NOT MERE PHASE

OF EMOTION IN HISTORY, SAYS
REV. SANDERSON.

JUBILEE OF PRESBYTERIANS

Over Advent of Fiftieth Anniversary of Church Closed Yesterday—Saturday Evening's Banquet.

Three days of a memorable golden anniversary celebration were concluded by the congregation of the first Presbyterian church with last night's evening service. The reading of a series of historical papers followed by a reception which lasted until 6:30 p. m. when a most inviting repast was served to over three hundred in the parlors. The hall score of long tables, decorated with tulips and clusters of carnations were grouped about the central one reserved for the guests of honor—Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Brown of Beloit, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Sanderson of Beaver Dam, Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Henderson, and the three charter members of the church: Mrs. Eliza Burpee, Mr. Barrows, and Mrs. Rexford. The "jubilee cake," ornamented with fifty lighted candles, had its place on this table. Young ladies of the church, anticipating every want, waited on the guests in a very pleasing manner.

Evening Program
The evening program opened with a piano number by Mrs. Clarence L. Clark and a song, "Content," by a quartette composed of Charles S. Buck, Frank Smith, Lavern Brooks and Athol Rollins. Supr. I. F. W. Wendeke of the Sunday school gave an interesting resume of the work of that department, narrating details of the record compiled by J. H. Kinney for a number of years following 1808. A discouraging note was sounded in an entry of Sept. 17, 1882, wherein it was set down that "two more classes had entirely disappeared, teachers and all." The speaker thought that the remembrance of such untoward happenings in the past would help banish discouragement in the present whenever the attendance statistics should tend to discourage. At this time there were 20 classes with a total enrollment of 302. The average attendance for six months had been 131 and the net increase of scholars, 18. Miss Louise Hanson told the story of the Christian Endeavor society from the organization with 35 active and 9 associate members, and the adoption of the constitution without the pledge on Nov. 22, 1886. During the years 1888-92 there had been a membership of 90. The present list was forty-two.

Joseph Jefferson Incident
Rev. J. W. Sanderson of Beaver Dam recounted the incidents which led to his coming to Janesville from Cincinnati in 1873 to preach two sermons and of his return in the fall to accept the temporary pastorate. On the Sunday morning when he was to preach his first regular sermon he explored the dining-room of the George Davis hotel where he had often "served" as Jefferson up in the dramatics, during his experience as a newspaper man was moved to ask the great actor to come and hear him preach. Had he possessed the courage to do so, Rev. Sanderson was certain that the genial, kindly man would not have refused. When he recalled those immature days the speaker was reminded of the old deacon who used to pray: "God bless the pastor's feeble efforts," and the comment of Sandy when he was told in reply to his question as to what ministers did at a presbytery, that they swapped sermons—"Aye, and our minister always gets the worst of it." The present church he regarded as a stout, stalwart old tree, bearing good fruit and deeply rooted in the Word. "The affectionate welcome given him upon his return, after a quarter of a century, had been a source of the deepest happiness."

Rev. William Brown of Beloit (Janesville 1881 to 1893) was introduced by Rev. J. T. Henderson as the pastor who had had the Janesville charge for the longest term and the man whose pastorate had been signified by the exterior of the present church building. Dr. Brown said that his first connection with the Janesville church dated from May, 1871, when he came here from the mission field in Black River Falls to deliver a trial sermon which was part of his examination. After he had been appointed by the mission board to the field of Japan in July, 1880, he again preached here and in October of the same year while he was supplying at Evansville he was sent for to moderate a meeting held to decide a difference over the choice of a pastor which had arisen in the church. In the end the committee asked him to supply the pulpit for six months and eventually he became the permanent pastor. The speaker said that part of his plan was to shirk work and get it onto the shoulders of others and that was how he came to leave a splendidly trained body of men and women for his successor to work with. He exhibited the original subscription list for the new church and explained his plan of enlisting aid by a promise contained in the articles of agreement that the second quarter of the total amount subscribed should not be called for until the first quarter was all collected. Though he was not a revivalist, the speaker said that it was his plan to preach the gospel and that he was able to do much in conversation as well as in the pulpit. He was able to make good use of some members of the congregation who consistently opposed him by arranging things so that they would seem to have their own way. A total of 206 were received into the church during his pastorate.

Sunday Morning Sermon
"What Shall Be the Final Form of Religion?" was the topic discussed by Rev. Sanderson in his Sunday morning sermon. Mrs. C. L. Clark played the organ voluntarily. Mrs. J. G. Rexford and Mr. Rollins sang a duet; and Mr. Rollins gave a rendition of Teunoyson's "Crossing the Bar." Dr. Sanderson answered the question of his theme with the postulate that though times change and with them the spirit of our religion, and though we are with never a doubt tending to some vital point in religion, that which was written above the cross is not to change and shall be in the future as it was nineteen centuries ago. And this inscription, carrying out God's purpose through the childlike spirit of men, proclaimed in Greek, Latin and Hebrew—"Jesus of Nazareth—King." A wonderful significance, it seemed to the speaker, lay in this fact that the proclamation to the world was given in three languages.

Three Attitudes
Men group themselves in the same three classes today. There is the Greek, the Roman, and the Hebrew in mentality and attitude toward religion. They correspond to the student, the commercial, and essentially the religious division of mankind. Then there is another class to whom even every Christian is unimportant. They think God is unimportant. They think neither intelligently nor unintelligently of the Divine. The Greek mind was a mind that sought to satisfy reason. It was critical rather than sensitive, passive rather than responsive, trained and open mind this Christian faith has its victories all along the years. It is to this class that God pleased to ordain preaching in the speaker's early days churches were filled with great physicians, lawyers, judges—the foremost professional men.

Age of Lax Indifference
Infidelity was then a sign of a poor mentality. The evil days of the laxer and the more recent period of lax indifference had not dawned then. Yet this system of Christian religion is not dependent on tradition or idolatry. Men of mind, standing high in science, have seen its simplicity and purity. Jesus has fascinated them with His beauty. And when they followed to the cross they did more than the centurion. They said: "This is God, the King." The great majority of men who have been broad in mind and clear in comprehension have loved God. Mind and clear comprehension always reaches the side of Christ. The inscription—"Jesus of Nazareth—King" was also written in Latin because the Romans dominated the world. Our own age is the age of Rome, the age of commercial expansion. It is the age of the man who works. The sphere of commercial activity is a different one from the university cloister, but the cross is in every financial centre, and what was written over it was also directed to men who are occupied with commercial toil and conquest. Its message is the governor, the counterpoise, the balance-wheel of the busy world today.

Not More Emotional Phase
The religion of Christ is not merely one of the emotional phases of the world's history. It is not a dogma. It is a light for your life. The one thing every business man needs today is to have Christ enthroned as the king of the little domain of his life. But if that inscription was written for the thinker and the doer, the scholar and the soldier, it was also written in words of Hebrew for the religious mind. Part of the world is intellectual; part is strenuously active; part is religiously inclined; though not always with any more religious discernment than those who crucified Him. They did this thing to the Man of Nazareth because He was a stumbling block, He reversed every idea they had of Jehovah. Theirs was a religion of fear. Are there those among us of a Jehovah cast of mind? Do we fear or love? Are we selfish in that love? Is Jesus king? If we might have for Christ some of that loyalty which the Japanese soldier has for the Mikado: It is more than patriotism. It is patriotism raised to the nth degree. It is loyalty of heart and mind and service. Nothing can better dispel the mere formality of service than to crown Him King of our lives.

MAKING TEST UPON DIFFERENT HERDS

Spread of Tuberculosis in the Southern Part of the State Is Alarming.

The tuberculin test is being applied to the dairy herd of nine cows on the farm of Conrad Stauffer, three miles north-west of Monroeville, and several assistants, including Dr. George Noble, of Blanchardville, are making the test, says the "Monroe Evening Times."

A number of cattle are not doing well of late and the state veterinarian was notified. Assistant State Veterinarian Clark visited the herd and concluded that the appearance of a few of the cattle indicated the presence of the disease beyond doubt and arrangements were made for the test.

The sixty-nine cattle killed on the George Legler farm were appraised at an average of $24 a head. The maximum value by appraisal is fixed by law at $25. The appraisers were John Gierhart, Ole Tolkackson and John Clark.

The milk from the herd had been made up into cheese at the Legler factory on the same farm and now there is no sale for the product. If other herds belonging to the factory are found to be affected the product on hand at the factory will have to be condemned. The patrons have held a meeting and all decided to have their herds examined. There are no external indications that the disease exists in any of their herds, but they want to make cheese and sell it.

State Bacteriologist Russell, State Dairy and Food Commissioner Emory together with George McEwen, president of the Wisconsin Agricultural Society, and a full force of skinner and photographers, were brought to the Legler farm to witness and take part in the slaughter.

They found generalized tuberculosis in a malignant form in the lungs, bowels, udder and various glands. One calf, seven weeks old, was affected with a well-developed case of it.

Dr. Roberts held a post mortem examination over each carcass in order to show the assembled stockmen how the disease affected the cattle and their condition when afflicted. In many cases the lungs were nearly gone. Every animal that had been condemned as a result of the test used is uninfected and can be applied without injury to the animal.

The animals were skinned by the local butchers who pulled the hides off like rabbits are skinned. The carcass is chained to a tree, a horse is hitched to the hide and it is turned off like an old sock.

State Factory Inspector, Fred Marty, of Monroe, who represented the Wisconsin dairy school at the slaughter, is gratified with the move that will be made to have the dairy cattle in the locality inspected. He is also pleased to note that there is great improvement in the sanitary condition of factories this season over last. He says most factories are putting in a system of drainage and cement floors. Heretofore in many localities cheese companies have been too busy making money to look after the details, but they find they must put more time and money into the business to get the best results.

Some strange disease has been afflicting cattle in Iowa county in the vicinity of Hollandale. One man in Walworth has lost twenty head. J. S. Robinson has lost thirteen, Geo. Theobald of Adamsville, nine and a number of others from one to five. The disease is mostly confined to yearlings, Mr. Robinson being the only one who has lost any cows. The disease begins with scours. At most immediately the animal lies down and it never able to get on its feet again. Sick animals usually live for some time, and their appetite is good until the end.

Interests Three Cities in the Sugar Beet Factory Proposition.

To the many friends and acquaintances of Theodore Hapke, the builder of the sugar beet plant in this city, who made Janesville his home for several months and was almost universally known in business circles of the city, the following from the "American Sugar Industry and Beet Sugar Gazette" will be of interest:

"Mr. Theodore Hapke of Chicago, the veteran promoter and builder of beet sugar factories, recently made a tour of the various sections of Montana for the purpose of creating an interest in the beet sugar industry, and as a result of his visit the citizens of Bozeman, Hamilton and Missoula in that state have been thoroughly aroused to work for the acquisition of sugar plants to be located there. The Missoula, 'Missoulian,' the Anaconda 'Standard' and the Bozeman 'Chronicle' are enthusiastically supporting the movement for the establishment of the beet sugar industry in Montana. Among those who are working to secure factories are Mr. Charles Dorman of the Missoula Mercantile Company; Mr. John Cleary, a prominent rancher, who resides at Victor, Montana, and Mr. Samuel Dismore of Missoula. Northern Pacific railroad officials and the commercial clubs of the several cities are also reported to be lending their support to the movement."

Sales and Purchases of Tobacco Are Few Now—Warehouses Continue to Close.

Movements in the tobacco market are becoming fewer and affairs are becoming quieter. Little business is being done now and the warehouses are closing one by one. The handling of the new crop is about completed. The weather has been favorable for the past week for the new plant beds, but few growers have planted their fields. The shipments out of Edgerton last week aggregated 200 boxes and following is the report of the local market. L. B. Carle & Son, ten cars of old and new leaf and sold 2000s of 1901-2, and M. F. Greene shipped three cars of 1902-3 leaf and received two cars of 1903-4 during the past week.

THE VIGOROUS MAN IS A LEADER OF MEN

The Mental, Moral or Physical Wreck Has No Place in the Business World.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS

The man who hesitates, whose eye is dull, whose step is slow, whose mind is sluggish, whose hands tremble, is not the man whom an employer seeks. It is the bright man, the man with the clear eyes and brain, the active man, full of energy, life and vigor, whose very manner and presence breeds success that is sought for and snapped up as soon as seen, and it seems almost pitiful that the first class, victims of excess of some sort, should exist when it needs but a thorough course of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to round them in to the old-time feeling of physical, intellectual and manly vigor again. Mr. Fred Hoyt of No. 724 6th Ave., New Brighton, Pa., Says:

"I used to have a hard so steady. I could write the Lord's prayer on a twenty-five cent piece—then as a result of overwork and overstrain my eyes gave out and my hands and nerves generally became tremulous. I was restless and could not sleep. I certainly was in bad shape and lost my ability to write—could just scrawl. I heard of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they took hold immediately. I began to sleep—gain strength—my nerves grew steady—and my eyesight improved steadily. Today I feel fine and can again write as well as ever, and that means a very steady nerve." Mr. Fred Hoyt of No. 724 6th Ave., New Brighton, Pa., Says:

...Forty Years Ago...

Jansville Daily Gazette, Monday, May 8, 1865.—Navigation Open.—The steamer "Star of the West," we observe is plying on the Rock River again, bringing down wood.

Musical Convention.—Some time during the latter part of June there is to be a musical convention in this city, which promises to be a grand affair. It is expected that a hundred musicians are to be present. The director of the convention is Mr. N. H. Bennett of this city.

Guide Boards Wanted.—The last case of abnegation that we have heard of was that of a legal gentleman, of this city, who started from Beloit for Jansville early in the evening Saturday, and wandered about the country until 2 o'clock Sunday morning arriving at home some time before 3 o'clock. We commend his case to the committee on guide boards.

Our Park.—It's a shame, that's just what it is, that nothing more is being done to beautify the spot set aside for a park. With characteristics for beauty and with a little bit of labor it would develop wonderfully. It is allowed to run to seed and be overrun by vagrant bovines of the city, who crop the scanty grass. It seems to us that no season should be allowed to pass without something being done to adorn this spot. If the authorities cannot afford to spend $10 on it, let them spend $5 each year, and take care of what is done, and by-and-by—perhaps a long time hence—this little wilderness will blossom as the rose.

The News
The news of the death of Mr. Lincoln, created a profound sensation in England. The "London Times" which lied in season and out of season for the rebels, at length admits that the rebellion is smothered. Johnston's surrender involves about 30,000 men, 150 guns and 15,000 stand of small arms.

Torture Her Till She Reveals Money. Then Throw Her Out Window.

McKeesport, Pa., May 8.—Word was brought to this city to the effect that late Saturday night the home of Fred Reider, who lives in the country back of Coulter station, about eight miles from here, was entered by two masked men, who demanded the hiding place of money.

Mrs. Reider refused to tell and was knocked down. The soles of her feet were then burned with matches until she told where her husband's savings of a lifetime, $700, were hidden. This the robbers found, and then, angry because there was not more, threw the woman from a second-story window, inflicting injuries from which she will probably die.

LOCALS DEFEAT ROCKFORD NINE

GAME AT YOST'S ENDS IN VIC.
TORY FOR JANSVILLE.

SCORE WAS SEVEN TO 1

Rockford Allowed But one Hit—
Greene, Riley and Ruhland
Field Well.

Jansville clobbered the Rockford Stars for seven innings, then allowed them one run and closed the game at the middle of the ninth with a score of 7 to 1 at Yost's park yesterday afternoon. The experience of the game last Sunday, the practice of the Jansville nine at various points was evinced in the playing and the tabulated score shows that there was much improvement. E. M. Sowles, who pitched last year in La Crosse, was put in the box and with good support from the other members of the Jansville team gave Rockford but one hit, a two-bagger, in the course of the entire contest. He had good control of his arm and scattered his throws.

Good Fielding. There were but two errors on the Jansville side and it was largely the work of the fielders that won the game. Riley was at shortstop and negotiated cleanly all that came his way. Ruhland on third base made two excellent stops and caught a swift liner off the bat. Solbra's work at second was of the same order. Green at leftfield also made a feature play, making a long drive and scooping a fly. Early in the game Broughton unfortunately was hit on the back of the right hand with the bat and after staying through the fifth inning had to leave. Pye took his place and held the position with credit and Wendt went in rightfield in place of Pye.

Good Hitting. The hitting of the local players was exceptionally good but a strong wind blowing up the field prevented any long drives and the only one better than a base-hit was made by Rockford. Newman did excellent work on the initial bag and in three times at bat secured three base-hits and one run. The story of the game is partly told in the tabulated score and summary as follows:

SPRITED CRAP GAME WAS PLAYED IN OPEN SUNDAY

Participants Were Warned by a Sentinel of the Approach of the Police.

In a grassy dell near the Choate-Hoffster factory yesterday afternoon a spirited crap-shooting contest was in progress, the participants being a number of young men of ages ranging from seventeen to twenty-five. The police went out to break up the pastime but a sentinel posted on a neighboring eminence gave the alarm before Officer Brown got within the range of observation. When he reached the scene the dice and cash had been put away, and having no evidence, he could make no arrests.

KEEPS ABREAST OF THE NEW WRINKLES

Hugh M. Joyce, the Shoe Man, Does Not Neglect Buying New Machines.

As soon as a new machine or a new method for repairing on custom-made shoes appears on the market the firm of Hugh M. Joyce seizes it at once and adds it to their already modern shop. They have lately made the purchase of a costly machine for stitching taps on all kinds of welt shoes, to be delivered and ready for operation about May 15th. This work has previously been done by hand in a slow and imperfect manner. The new machine does the work quicker, neater and more perfect than could ever be expected of hand work. Machine work is acknowledged to be far superior to hand work both in appearance and durability. The fact that all new shoes are made entirely by machines proves beyond dispute that hand sewing is a thing of the past. The addition of this machine is evidence enough that the firm is keeping abreast of the times.

SENATOR MUNSON CAST THE LAST SHOT

Told Senate Committee That They Should Send in a Suitable Report.

Madison, Wis.—Orville G. Munson, a country newspaper man from up in Vernon county, is credited with whipping the opposition to the administration Wisconsin railroad rate commission bill into a state of acquiescence and brought about a unanimous report from the committee in favor of the passage of the bill. The committee had struggled for three months almost daily, reaching agreement after agreement, only to have differences develop and the passage of the bill threatened. The senate committee on railroads was having a session Thursday night which the members declared would be their final effort at agreement. The meeting had ragged until after midnight, when Senator Munson, declared, as one speaking with authority, that if the opposition republicans would not consent to enact an apportionment commission bill the administration republicans would unite with the democrats, who are pledged for an elective commission bill, enact such a law, and then Governor La Follette would return to the legislature, the election as United States senator and become a candidate himself for the chairmanship of the commission. This pronouncement brought matters quickly to a focus, and the La Follette members of the committee, Senators Johnson and Wiperman not only agreed to the apportionment feature of the administration bill but also agreed to unite with the La Follette people in passing a bill more favorable to the administration demands than had been thought possible of enactment. The incident has caused a great sensation in politics here. The results are that there is practical assurance of the passage of the La Follette bill, the governor will go to the senate and Senator Munson is the "half-breed" hero of the hour.

The particular picture has not been decided upon. Mr. Thurber has disposed of several of his paintings in this city. One of them which was given special mention in Wednesday's Gazette—"Early Spring in the Berkshires"—was sold to F. S. Baines for $400. It is an oil from the brush of H. Bolton Jones of New York whose water-color "Winter" had a place in the art galleries of the St. Louis exposition. A water-color, Charles F. ## HEAVY OAK BAR FOILED BURGLAR

When the Grubb Produce Co's store on South Main street was opened this morning it was discovered that an unsuccessful attempt to rob the place had been made some time since eleven o'clock Saturday evening. The burglar got into the cellar by cutting out a pane of glass in the basement window and succeeded in breaking the lock which fastened the door opening into the cellarway. He was unsuccessful, however, in raising the heavy oak bar which reinforced the lock, and in trying to do so he lost the tool with which he was operating. It was a combination jack-knife with a glass-cutter, cork-screw, file, and several blades—one of the collection sold here by the Big Four Auction Co. The blades were twisted out of shape and the glass-cutter showed evidences of strenuous use and it was no doubt employed previously at the Woodring store. The knife is in the hands of the police.

$5,510 RAISED BY METHODISTS

FOR NEW CARGILL MEMORIAL CHURCH EDIFICE.

SUBSCRIBED BY MEMBERS

Rev. James D. Rowe of Chicago Spoke Both Morning and Evening.

At the close of the sermon of Rev. James D. Rowe of Chicago on the theme, "Giving and Growing," at the Methodist church yesterday morning over four thousand five hundred dollars was raised by subscription and in the evening nearly one thousand more was secured. The purpose of Mr. Rowe's visit here was to help in the securing of five thousand and his efforts with the help of Rev. Tippet, Presiding Elder McChesney and a number of prominent members of the Central Methodist organization were more than successful, $5,510 being the complete sum subscribed.

How the Gifts Ranged

The donations were from members, church societies and organizations, and Sunday school classes. Four $500 subscriptions were made, two by societies and two by members. Two $200 gifts were promised, several $100, ten $50, about a score of $25, a few $15, about forty $10, nearly thirty $5, and numerous others of different amounts, ranging from twenty-five cents up.

Tithing and Giving

Rev. Rowe's addresses were excellent, full of truth, with a background of humor. In the morning he expressed the thought that tithing is the paying of our debt to the Lord and not giving. Only what we pay to Him beyond a tenth is giving. It is not for us to judge how much to give according to His wants, but it is for us to give according to our ability. It is not our business to decide what God needs, but it is to determine what we owe. The giving of a tenth is taught from Genesis to Malachi and is not changed by Christ through the New Testament.

System in Giving

God is continually and regularly giving to use: light, air, warmth, rain and all the necessary blessings and our giving to help Him must also be systematic. We must give much and regularly. Some of those who give little amounts are giving truly more than those that donate much, for the more you sacrifice the more you give.

J.T. Brush Talks on Baseball

He Tells Why It Excels All Other Pastimes. What Pennant Winners Require—Gossip of the Major Leagues—Washington's Revival.

By JOHN T. BRUSH, President and Owner of the Champion New York Nationals.

Games of golf and tennis are interesting principally to those who participate in them. The charm of the track lies in the relation it bears to the betting ring. Racing without the pool book attachment would become a "lost art" or amusement. The thousands who shout and cheer as the horses turn into the home stretch are they who have backed their favorites to win, and so it follows that the interest depends upon the wager, and the wager depends upon the speed of the horse. It is the betting that contributes to and maintains the interest. Once or twice a year we look at a contest between the crews or football teams of our favorite colleges, and then those interests are shelved until another year.

Baseball is different. It is unlike any other outdoor amusement. Interest in it does not depend upon any and Young set forth in the preamble of the constitution of the National league that the objects of the league were:

"To immortalize baseball as the national game of the United States. To surround it with such safeguards as to warrant absolute public confidence in its integrity and methods."

"Woe Willie" Keeler. "Woe Willie" Keeler, the scintillating outfielder of the New York Americans, is gaining new fame this year. Willie has improved on his tantalizing "bunting" tactics, and he is now a greater source of worry to pitchers than ever. There is no doubt that Keeler is the cleverest bunt hitter in the American league.

Keeler's rules for bunting are as follows: Don't stand too far away from the plate. Grasp the bat at least six inches away from the end of the handle.

Swing the bat slanting downward, so that danger of a fly is lessened. Watch the ball from the moment it leaves the pitcher's hands. Get a quick start as soon as the ball is hit, for every second counts when running to "beat out" a bunt.

Ambitious Lave Cross. Lave Cross, Connie Mack's clever third baseman, is out for the infield premiership this year. Lave's Philadelphia friends say that, with the exception of Jimmy Collins of Boston, he is the leading "third sacker" in the American league, so the Quakers consider it "up to him" to put Collins in the shade. It's a hard task, but Lave is an optimist.

The Pittsburghs. The Pittsburgh Nationals are playing fast ball, but it would appear that Captain Fred Clarke's prediction, "We will win the rag," has small chance of fulfillment.

Pistol Champion.

Policeman Sidney Sears of St. Louis Wins National Contest.

A St. Louis police officer has been declared the champion revolver shot of America, and that by so wide a margin as to leave no doubt as to his right to the title.

Sidney E. Sears, a patrolman from the central district, whose headquarters are at the Chestnut street St. Louis police station, is the man who has just been awarded the highest honor of the United States Revolver association can confer.

Mr. J. B. Crabtree of Springfield, Mass., secretary of the United States

STONEY E. SEARS, NEW REVOLVER CHAMPION.

Revolver association, recently announced the result of the national indoor championship shoot, which was conducted simultaneously at New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, N. C., St. Louis, Pine Bluff, Ark., and San Francisco. Sears won with a score of 461.

Dr. R. E. Sayre of New York was second, with 438, and William G. Klug of Chicago third, with 431.

Sears has been on the St. Louis police force for over fifteen years and bears a high reputation in the department. He is the holder of the commissioner's medal, carrying with it the title of champion of the department, and has won many medals and honors in revolver shoots throughout the country.

The easy manner in which he beat the other competitors in the shoot for which the figures have just been announced has convinced the officer and his friends that he would stand an excellent chance to win an international title, and he will probably enter some of the foreign tournaments the coming season.

Sears, who is modest and unassuming, lives with his family at 1322 Bayard avenue, St. Louis.

MCCOY'S NEW "CHAMP."

Says Pitcher Frank Smith Is the Real Thing.

"I have discovered the next champion of the world and the man that will eventually own the laurels now held by Jeffries."

This is the gist of a talk given out by the irrepressible Kid McCoy in speaking of his new pugilistic find, Pitcher Frank Smith of the Chicago American league club.

"I believe that Smith could give Jeffries a hard fight now and without any further training, and in a year he can lick Jeff," said McCoy after a ten minute bout with the baseball player.

"Smith is the most remarkable man I have ever come across in my career. He is a natural born pugilist and has only to be taught the tricks of the ring to make him a champion. I put the gloves on with him, and he surprised me. He is the fastest big man that I have ever faced and has a wallop that has Jeffries' faded. In my bout with him I thought he would put me out. I had to use all my science to stall him off, and if he had connected with my chin there is no doubt in my mind that I would have been a subject for the referee's count of the fatal number."

"Let me take this fellow and train him for a year and he will beat Jeffries, just as sure as the sun sets."

Home Health Club

By DAVID H. REEDER, Ph.D., M.D.

For a long time I have had letters from every part of the world asking me to give a lecture to mothers. I have hesitated to do this because there are so many things in connection with such a subject which we have been taught are too sacred for public discussion. I have answered many thousands of inquiries by private letters, and this I am always glad to do. Many years ago I took for my motto this: "The only ambition in life worth striving for is to be of service to others." I will let you be the judge as to whether or not I have lived up to my ideal. I have always considered motherhood next to Godhood, the most sacred thing which a human being may consider, and I hope that I may yet find the time and opportunity to give all of those who have become so dear to me through the Home Health Club work a complete book upon motherhood and babies. I know that parturition can, in nearly all cases, be rendered safe and almost painless.

There are some things of vital importance which the young expectant mother ought to know, and they are of such a simple and practical nature that I think I shall venture to make a few suggestions.

In the first place, we all know that the physical body and brain substance is built and maintained from the food eaten. So that not only the child itself, but the mother, must have the foods which are intended by nature to supply the elements necessary for the health of both.

During the first five months of pregnancy the foundation is laid for the physical body of the child, and during that time the mother should indulge in vigorous exercise and physical culture for developing especially those portions of the body which are weak in herself or husband, and she should partake of muscle and bone-forming foods. Tea, coffee, rich, greasy foods and spices must be absolutely avoided at this time if a strong, healthy, happy baby is desired; while many oppose the use of meats, this opposition is not justified by experience, and if pork and veal are strictly avoided, nearly all other kinds of meats and fish, eggs, etc., may be used in moderation, if desired, without detriment to either the mother or babe.

There has recently been published a very pretentious set of instructions for expectant mothers. They must have been written by some one with but little knowledge of how humanity really exists. One of the important directions says: "Keep away from the odor of foods." Now, common sense ought to tell anyone that fully 75 per cent. of the mothers of the world, yes, 90 per cent. of them, not only cook their own food, but all of the food for the entire family, so what is the sense of writing such silly instructions when it is known that they cannot be carried out? Again, this book says: "To fight an excessive appetite is the hardest battle of a pregnant woman," but such a fight, as well as seeking to avoid the odor of food, is absolutely unnecessary. Make the condition natural, realize its wonder, its mystery, its power, its grandeur. The expectant mother is working jointly with the Great, the Divine, Creator of the universe, and her mental attitude toward the unborn child is told in its life. If she fully realizes the fact that the foods of which she partakes are not only for the purpose of satisfying her own appetite and supplying her bodily needs, but also is supplying through her life blood the necessary elements for the creation of another being, it will be her delight to partake of the foods which experience has shown to be the best for that purpose. A judicious use of good, wholesome food, thoroughly well masticated and consisting largely of vegetables and fruits, will go far toward making pregnancy a perfectly natural thing. If at any time there is an unnatural craving for food a cup of very hot, sweet, iced lemonade with a teaspoon will usually not only satisfy the craving, but soothe and strengthen the mother. Sometimes eating fruit or drinking a cup of water, either hot or cold, will answer the purpose.

Plenty of outdoor exercise and an abundance of fresh air in the sleeping room must be secured, but common sense must be used in connection with the exercise. It would be suicidal for some women to take vigorous exercise during the latter months of pregnancy. The mother would be broken down and the child would be all bone and muscle, with but little brain.

After the fifth month has passed the bone and muscle forming food need not be used so freely, but more of the fruits and vegetables. Cut down on the meats, cheese, beans, barley, butter, milk, etc., although they should not be eliminated altogether until the last two or three weeks, after which nothing but fruit, vegetables and liquids should be eaten. If an easy birth is desired, all of these things that are necessary have been supplied during the first months. If the diet has been properly directed.

During the last four months of pregnancy the brain and mental capacity, inclination, tastes and ambition of the child are formed. During this period of four months the mother may do more for the child than any college in the world can do in as many years. Whatever she cultivates will be cultivated in the child. If her desire is for social life and she thinks and longs for it, fretting because she is deprived of it by her condition, then she must expect a fretful, selfish child, that will never be satisfied unless constantly on the go, and never contented except when surrounded by the light-headed and idle.

If her desire can be turned to music, or literature, or art, or mechanics, or any one thing, and it is studied, practiced and desired, then the child's education and position in life will be fixed and these things will by nature be its greatest delight.

The unwelcome child is cursed before birth and, according to the old saying, "Curses, like chickens, come home to roost," and the hearts of many aged parents are frequently almost broken by such children. While the welcome child is a delight and joy forever and seldom causes sorrow to its parents.

CLUB NOTES.

Bitmore, N. C.—Dr. David H. Reeder, LaPorte, Ind.—Dear Sir: I have enjoyed your Home Health Club talks very much and now will be very grateful if you can help me in a matter that is troubling me. My baby is three weeks old and, although I have nursed her this far, I find my milk is drying up and am afraid I will have to put her on the bottle unless you can help me.

I have three other children. The first I had plenty of milk for, the second I had to raise on the bottle, owing to my poor health after his arrival, and the third had to be put on the bottle when about a month old, when I was taken with diphtheria. I have been in very good health all winter, and have regained my strength very rapidly since baby's arrival, so that I am able to be about, but now I am fearing another experience with the bottle baby. I would do anything to be able to nurse her through the summer, at least, and if you can help me I will be more than grateful. I have been drinking tea and cocoa at meal times, and several cups of cereal coffee, but I was told tea was best. I was also told that a drink made with bran would be good, but have not tried it. Please give me your opinion of these things and anything else that I could use. I am very anxious to nurse my baby, as we live in the country. Please help me if you can, and greatly oblige, Mrs. E. W.

You should be very careful of your own health, masticate all of your food carefully and thoroughly, and by all means avoid constipation. As to diet, drink freely of new warm milk. Have it brought to the bed, and drink at least a pint at a time. Take it one or two hours before breakfast. If milk cannot be obtained possessing animal warmth, then take new milk, add one-tenth water, and heat over a water bath to a temperature of 120 degrees. Cheese makers testify that the addition of water prevents rancidity from coagulating the casein in the stomach; also warm water prevents the peptic from curdling the milk. If it is as warm as the stomach, and does not coagulate, it will be taken up by the absorbents and conveyed directly to the blood, without going through the process of digestion. Mothers who have a great aversion to milk, learn to cultivate a decided relish for it for the sake of the child. Bear in mind, however, that if it does not contain the animal warmth, it ought to be hot, so it is necessary to heat it.

Dr. R. P. Harris, in speaking of milk as a diet for delicate mothers, says: "Those who with ordinary food invariably fail to nurse longer than a few weeks are capable by this diet of becoming not only good nurses, but also of gaining flesh while secreting milk in abundance. When a delicate mother of 80 pounds weight, who had failed after a month with each of three infants, is enabled by it to nurse a child 18 months, and gain at the same time 19 pounds, the diet must be an effective one." The article next best for promoting the secretion of milk is cocoa or chocolate, prepared with plenty of milk.

Every form of malt and spirituous liquors should by all means be avoided. They derange the nervous and digestive systems of both mother and babe. Custom, happily, has to a large extent done away with the idea that "nursing women must have ale or beer." To those who still maintain this view I would recommend the study of the question, whether the help expected is at all commensurate with the danger incurred of a periculous appetite being cultivated in both mother and child.

Good digestion is usually all that is essential for an abundant flow of milk. The food should be simple, but nutritious. Depend upon grains and fruits mainly, and by no means exclude the bran from the wheat flour. The saline elements in the bran not only stimulate digestion, but excite the secretion of milk as well. Try the experiment of feeding an Alerney cow upon fine white flour, excluding the bran. By the lack of milk you will prove that the bran contains elements preeminently stimulating to lactation. Therefore the bran drink recommended is better, much better, than tea. I trust that others as well as yourself may derive benefit from these suggestions.

Readers of this paper are at liberty to write for information on subjects pertaining to health. All communications should be addressed to Dr. David H. Reeder, LaPorte, Ind., and contain name and address in full and at least four cents in postage.

Remedy Against Age. Curdled milk of a special kind, prepared only on a Bulgarian recipe, is now supposed to be a remedy against growing old. The substance is called "yagurt" and it is said to be healthy to all the inimical bacteria in the intestine, while not harming the friendly microbes. The substance looks like ordinary cream cheese turned bad and tastes much like it. The solid portion is mixed with a white, thin liquid which is exceedingly sour.

Drunk Rebel Chief's Blood. His excellence the viceroys of the Two Kingdoms, at Kuelin, a short time ago, at the execution of a famous rebel chief, stepped forward and caught some of the blood and drank it. Whether he wished to become impregnated with the courage of the robber, or whether it was a feeling of revenge that prompted the act, can only be surmised.—Canton Times.
